

Michael Weinberg, Esq.

Family Law Attorney

MY STORY

Michael Weinberg understands that his clients come to him to help secure a better future for them and their families. "You're helping people through crisis," says Weinberg, a second-generation family and matrimonial lawyer, whose father was a founder of the firm. "Sometimes people who are otherwise rational make decisions based on emotions and reactions."

It's his job, he says, to lead clients on the best path forward, especially when it's not at all clear to them how they can get there.

"The most important thing to me is remembering that the people I'm working with are scared, angry and upset – trying to figure out what their life is going to look like," he adds. "Are their children going to be okay? Will they be financially secure? I have to be sensitive to that. The more I can step back and humanize myself, the more effectively I can help."

Amy Smith, Esq.

Family Law Attorney

MY STORY

Amy Smith has always known that people – no matter how successful or how strong they are – need someone in their corner in their hour of need. "For me, law is a profession that lets me make a difference in people's lives," says Smith. "It is a way for me to fight for people who can't fight for themselves."

Smith entered the field as a prosecutor, where she spent 5 years gaining trial experience in domestic violence, drug cases, robberies and other criminal proceedings. The intense, fast-paced specialty, she says, gave her valuable jury experience early in her career and continues to give her an edge as a family law attorney. "I can be nice. I can also be very aggressive about pursuing a good outcome. One of my clients said it best. She said, 'Get me through this with dignity and grace, so I can keep my head held high.' That's exactly what I do. I help people get to the other side."

TESTIMONIAL

I used Amy for my divorce. Amy is BRILLIANT, confident, and plays by the rules. She is very much respected in her field and by her peers. I had to file motions against my ex 3 times in one year. I was extremely happy with the professionalism in which she handled my case. I am proud to have her by my side in court.

Dawn Kaplan, Esq.

Family Law Attorney

MY STORY

Dawn Kaplan never forgets for a moment that her work impacts entire families. "It's my job to help clients understand how the decisions they make in the moment will shape their lives and their children's lives in 3 months, 6 months, a year and then beyond," she says. For that very reason she invests as much time and energy as needed to educate clients, who are often under enormous emotional strain. Helping them understand that her goal is to improve lives and strengthen families is key to a better future.

"Even after a divorce, they're still a family," says Kaplan. "We give them the tools to not only get through litigation, but to function as a family after that litigation ends and move forward in this new situation. Life is going to change, whether they want it to or not, but that doesn't necessarily mean things will be worse. We want to make sure they turn out better."
